Draining Tunnel Rains Make Roads Nearly Impassable From Kemmerer, Wyo., to the Scene of Disaster

12 COME OUT ALIVE

Three Bodies Recovered—200 Us- ually Employed in Workings, But Company Planned to Make Certain Repairs

(By the Associated Press.)
Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 16. — An official checkup tonight of the number of miners and workers in Sublet mine No. 2, when an explosion engulfed all at 11:45 o'clock this morning, showed that 47 men were in the mine at the time of the blast, according to officials of the Kemmerer Coal company. The number of entombed men was set at 81 in earlier estimates by the company.
At a late hour tonight 12 miners had come out alive and bodies of three dead had been recovered.
The known dead are: William Hood, Harris Bennett, and Paul Bahem.
All three men were married and, with the exception of Hood, all have children. Bahem had two small daughters and Bennett a family of several partially grown children.
The 12 miners who escaped alive were above the seventh level and a chain of the retaining wall saved them from death by gas and fire, according to meager reports available.
Another group of 12 miners was probably instantly killed when the explosion occurred, according to conjecture by mine experts.
Bodies of the three men have not yet been taken from the mine.
A resounding roar broke through the sound of crashing thunder and brought to Sublet its first great mining disaster. Residents of the community of 500 started an exodus from their homes through a blinding rain storm to the mouth of the drift mine, there to claim their dead.
Within an hour so many residents of the camp had congregated around the main entrance that it was with difficulty workmen and rescue crews could enter the mine.
Roads Nearly Impassable.
News of the disaster was sent to Kemmerer and the main winding little highway soon became congested with automobiles and persons on foot. Rescue crews from the mines in the adjacent territory, many of them owned and operated by the Kemmerer Coal company and others by the Union Pacific railroad, were quickly formed and started on their way to the mine.
The rain continued to fall in virtual torrents, and shortly after news of the disaster had spread to Kemmerer, the road to the mining camp was declared to be nearly impassable. An urgent call for help was dispatched to the bureau of mines headquarters at Denver, Colo., and rescue cars No. 1, on duty at Trinidad, Colo., was ordered to proceed with all dispatch to the scene of the disaster. A second car, No. 1, held at Butte, Mont., was ordered held in readiness for the journey in case it was needed.
As soon as a clearing large enough to admit a man had been opened into the wrecked main portal, rescuing parties attempted to enter but were forced to withdraw because of the gas, which was pouring from the mine. Orders were sent at once to the Frontier mines, to Diamondville, Cumberland and Rock Springs for rescue workers, and late in the afternoon a crew of about 200 men had been assembled at the mine.
200 Men Usually at Work.
These men were sent into the main entrance and also to the fire entrance with orders to clear three passages to permit the gas to escape and also to clear away the debris in order to expedite the work of searching for survivors.
Reports received here were to the effect that fire was raging within the mine but rescue crews coming out in short shifts were unable to contain these reports.
All of the timbers in the main portal were wrecked by the force of the blast.
Practically all of the men entombed within the mine and believed by company officials to be dead, have been residents of the mining community at Sublet for years. Fathers and sons, according to the company's statement here, were employed in the mine, and it is thought that practically all entire families have been wiped out by the blast.
The mine, which has been worked for 16 years, is one of the largest soft coal producing mines in this section of Wyoming. A force of 200 men is normally employed in the mine, but this force was reduced considerably because of repairs to the shaft that had been planned by the company.
Rescue Work Proceeds Slowly.
Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 16. — Twelve of the 21 men entombed by an explosion in Sublet mine No. 2, near here, at 11:45 o'clock this morning, are reported to have been recovered from the wreckage of the mine. The rescue work is proceeding slowly, according to reports from the mine.

AUDITOR ACCUSED OF STEALING BONDS

Not Suspected Until He Tried to Sell Securities, Detectives Declare

New York, Sept. 16. — James R. Valentine, an auditor, was arrested at his home here tonight by police and private detectives on a charge of stealing Liberty bonds valued at $20,000 from the safe keeping security department of the New York State National bank at Albany, while working there last May.

According to detectives who made the arrest, the bank learned that the Liberty bonds had been taken from the vault last July. A surety company was notified and an investigation begun.

This investigation revealed the visit of the auditor to the bank and detectives visited the offices of the auditing company where they questioned all the men who had worked in the Albany bank with the exception of Valentine, who was absent at the time.

According to the arresting officers, Valentine was not suspected until a search for the missing bonds was conducted here and a description of the man who sold several of the missing bonds was found to fit the auditor.

This description was furnished by a young woman bond clerk in the Broadway offices of a brokerage concern where four of the bonds had been sold, the detectives said. According to them, the prospective bond seller questioned this woman about the purchase of a $10,000 bond but she told him the bond could not be accepted unless he had a bill of sale for it. He is said to have promised to get the bill of sale and return. He failed to reappear, it is said.

JEALOUSY POSSIBLE MOTIVE FOR KILLING

Former Employee of Johnson Girl's Father and Florist Men- tioned in Case

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 16. — With jealousy having been partially established as the motive for the slaying of 15-year-old Elizabeth Johnson, farmer's daughter, whose lifeless body was picked up Sunday from the shores of Lake Carnegie, where it apparently had been for a month, Middlesex county detectives and state troopers late today obtained additional names of the young men known to have been attentive to the girl, County Physician John Snyman, following a detailed examination of the girl's remains today, stated the bullet unquestionably caused her death. The position of the bullet hole in the skull has resulted in a definite announcement of the abandonment of the suicide theory.

Haverty Selhaver, formerly of Spencer, La., who was dismissed from employment on the farm of the girl's father near Kingston, August 5, one week prior to her disappearance, today continued the object of an organized search.

A young New York florist also entered the case tonight, but his name was not revealed. Members of the Johnson household were authority for the statement that he frequently visited the farmhouse and displayed more than casual interest in the girl.

COAL GAS MAY NOT HAVE KILLED MAN AND WOMAN

New York, Sept. 16. — Doubt was cast on the theory that carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths of Dr. George W. Partridge and Mrs. James L. Joughlin and the partial asphyxiation of Dr. Joughlin in a West side apartment building Saturday by Assistant District Attorney Hennis today. An experiment with sulphur fumes performed by Mr. Hennis revealed that the fumes from a hot water heater did not enter the apartment occupied by Dr. Partridge and Dr. Joughlin, but that the strength of the experiment, the assistant district attorney announced that he would try to delay the proposed cremation of Dr. Partridge's body by relatives until the cause of the deaths has been determined.

ORGANIZATION CHOICES SEEM TO HAVE WON

Hamilton Fish, Cole Stalker and Wallace Dempsey Known to Have Won Congressional Nomination

34TH YET IN DOUBT

Many Update Contests for Assem- bly Nominations Close—An- nual Republican Fight in Saratoga County

Albany, Sept. 17. — Returns from today's state primary elections indicated that candidates supported by the party organizations were generally successful.

Returns from three of the six Republican contests for nomination to congress showed that the three present members, each of whom was supported by the party organization, had won. These were Hamilton Fish, Jr., in the 25th district, Gale H. Stalker in the 27th, and S. Wallace Dempsey in the 40th.

The ante-primary campaign in the 34th district had been marked by political pyrotechnics, and it was anticipated generally that Fish would have hard sledding. When the votes were counted tonight it was found that Fish had carried Putnam's home county, by 1,000 majority, Dutchess by 2,000, while his vote in Orange county was approximately double that of his opponent, J. D. Wilson, Jr., district attorney of Orange county and chairman of the Republican county organization. Stalker and Dempsey won easy victories, the former disposing of D. J. Bennett, while the latter defeated John W. Slacer.

Result in 34th District Uncertain.
The fight between Representative John Davenport Clarke and Harold S. Tolley in the 34th congressional district, for the Republican nomination was unsettled at a late hour. In the seventh district, Otis S. Carroll was victor over former State Senator Abraham L. Katlin for the Republican nomination. In the same district, John F. Quayle won over Patrick H. Larney for the Democratic nomination. William T. Simpson won the Republican congressional nomination in the 22nd district, defeated Timothy F. Driscoll, who opposed his re-nomination.

Of the two Democratic contests for congressional nomination, George W. Lindsay defeated C. J. McWilliams and William P. McGarry in the third district, and Representative Frank Oliver, in the 23rd, defeated Timothy F. Driscoll, who opposed his re-nomination.

Two spectacular contests for Republican nomination to the state senate were settled. In the 17th district, New York city, Courtland Nicoll, a former member of the senate, defeated Assemblyman Joseph Steinberg for the nomination. Frederick M. Davenport, Jr., son of the state senator from Onondaga county, who had joined forces with Steinberg, also went down to defeat at the hands of S. H. Hofstadter for the assembly nomination in the 15th New York assembly district.

The other hard-fought senatorial contest was in the 15th district, made up of Hamilton, Herkimer, Fulton and Lewis counties. In this fight a triangular affair, Theodore Douglas Robinson was beaten for the Republican re-nomination by Jeremiah Keck, although backed by the Herkimer county Republican organization. Robinson did not poll his usual voting strength in that county, many of his former supporters marking their ballots for Daniel F. Strobel, another Herkimer man. Jeremiah Keck of Herkimer county carried off the nomination. He polled a majority of upwards of 2,000 in Fulton, ran only a few hundred behind Robinson in Lewis, and made a creditable showing in Herkimer.

Update Assembly Contests Close.
Henry D. Williams defeated Leon F. Snyder for Republican senatorial nomination in the 24th district, Onondaga county, and Assemblyman Leigh G. Kirkland won the senatorial nomination of the same party from

DARROW MAY TRY TO SAVE GRANT

Indicated Noted Defense Attorney Will Make Final Plan to Confront Small

Chicago, Sept. 16. — Clarence S. Darrow, whose defense saved Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb from the gallows, may make a final plea to Governor Len Small for the life of Bernard Grant, who is under sentence to hang October 17.

This was revealed tonight when Thomas F. Swanson, attorney for Grant, said that Mr. Darrow had called him several weeks ago and offered to help in this case.

A petition, which Grant's attorney is expected to send the governor tomorrow, has been prepared, setting forth the facts in the case. It asserts that Walter Krauser, under a death sentence with Grant for the murder of Ralph Souders, a policeman, has repudiated his first statement implicating Grant, and states that Grant had nothing to do with the holdup in which Souders was killed.

The Illinois supreme court has refused to review Grant's case, the latter now resting entirely with the governor. A plea for a review of Krauser's case is now before the supreme court.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF BURYING NEWLY BORN BABE INDICTED

Lakewood, N. J., Sept. 16. — Mrs. Stella Saunders of Forked River today was indicted by the Ocean county grand jury as the result of statements made by her husband that she attempted to bury alive a newly born baby girl, but on what specific charge. Prosecutor Wilfred Jayne would not state.

It was officially hinted, however, that the woman is charged with neglect and battery with intent to kill. Several witnesses today were heard by the grand jury. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Saunders, parents of the accused woman's husband; his two sisters, and two state troopers.

What disposition the jurors made of the other charge by her husband that Mrs. Saunders disposed previously of two other infants in the same manner is not known.

MERGER PLANS NOT OPPOSED BY C. & O. STOCKHOLDERS

New York, Sept. 16. — W. J. Harahan, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway company, said today that little opposition was expected from stock holders of the road to the terms outlined by the Van Sweringen interests in their proposal to incorporate the railway into the new Union Pacific system. Reports of dissatisfaction among Chesapeake & Ohio stockholders with the merger terms have been current since the Van Sweringens' plans were announced, but no organized opposition has so far developed.

First deliveries of equipment costing more than $25,000,000 ordered earlier in the year are being received, Mr. Harahan said.

17 RESCUED FROM FIRE

Amsterdam, Sept. 16. — Seventeen persons were rescued by firemen, with the aid of ladders, from the roof of a burning tenement house on Grove street early this morning.

The flames, starting in a shed, communicated to the only stairway of the building, causing the occupants to rush to the roof. The fire was soon subdued.

Several contests, mostly update, for assembly nominations were close and remained in doubt until the last district was heard from. Among these were Saratoga county, where Burton D. Eason, present member of the lower house, and J. Harry Denmore were indulging in one of the annual political battles that feature Republican politics in that section. With 60 votes of the 77 districts heard from, Eason was leading by less than 100 votes.

There was another very close contest in the second Orange district, with P. G. Hall slightly in the lead of Assemblyman Charles L. Mead on the face of incomplete returns. In the last contest held in the district, Mead was the winner of a four-cornered fight.

FASHIONABLE MODISTE HELD UP IN HOME

Four Armed Men Gag Maid and Wait for Victim to Return— Her Rise to Wealth Very Mysterious

LIKE 'DOT' KING CASE

Newest Puzzle Resembles Both King and Louise Lawson Slay- ings—If This is Solved, They May Be

New York, Sept. 16. — An apartment, exquisitely furnished, met the eyes of investigators of the robbery of Miss Edith Robe, fashionable modiste, whose rise to wealth was as sudden as it was mysterious. Four armed but unmasked men, entered her apartment last night while she was "darning" Broadway with a wealthy oil man, trussed up her negro maid, and robbed her of $50,000 worth of jewelry when she returned to her home early this morning with her escort. Her escort, who protested, was struck over the head with the butt of a revolver and left unconscious on the floor.

The mystery surrounding the identity of the escort was dispelled late in the afternoon, when Miss Robe, admitted that her wealthy admirer was Robert Hague, marine superintendent of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. She is also said to have admitted that it was he who gave her a $10,000 bracelet which was among the stolen articles.

Similar to Dot King Case.

Those who saw the interior of the apartment said thousands of dollars had been spent on furnishings. One of the rooms on the first floor is fitted up as a barroom, with a brass rail, cuspidors, side tables, and some sawdust on the floor. It was here, according to the maid, that Miss Robe frequently entertained her friends.

Detectives investigating the case found many striking resemblances to the unsolved killings of Dorothy King and Louise Lawson, for whom Miss Robe is said to have designed frocks. They believe that to solve this newest mystery would clear up the earlier crimes.

Robe told them about the robbery, detectives said it seemed as though the robbers had expected to find their victim alone, as were Dot King and Miss Lawson, when they were robbed and killed.

Collected $20 Gold Pieces.
The robbers apparently knew of Miss Robe's recent movements and the arrangement of her apartment, gaining entrance with a pass key. One of them is said to have demanded "the $10,000 ring you got Saturday."

Last Saturday Miss Robe gave a birthday party, spending more than a thousand dollars for decorations, her maid told the police. Guests at the party, her maid said, were each presented with a $20 gold piece. The collection of these gold pieces was said to be a hobby of Miss Robe's and a large number of them, which were secreted about the house, were taken by the robbers.

The wealthy young modiste is said by her acquaintances to have an ambition to be known as "the most beautiful woman in the world," and to have accumulated many gems.

MAC MILLAN HAD BIG TEST SUNDAY

Storm Proved Big Trial for Craft and Crew of Arctic Explorer — Describes Trip

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 16. — Captain Donald Baxter MacMillan, who brought his sturdy Arctic explorer, the Bowdoin, to anchor in this port late last night, reported that the severest test, both for his vessel and his men, was a storm encountered off St. George, N. F., Sunday night. Then, launching into a tale of his 15-months' sojourn in the Far North, in Northern Greenland and Ellesmere Land, Captain MacMillan described Eskimo flappers and white Indians, and told of the difficulties and peculiarities of radio transmission in the north. The Eskimo flappers haven't bobbed their hair yet, but they like to smoke cigars," he said. "They used to have trouble finding enough girls to go around, but this year, for some reason, there is a small surplus and a number of unmarried young women are very unusual condition among the Eskimos."

"One of the biggest surprises of the trip was when I bought a bag of potatoes at Disko, the furthest north settlement in Greenland. I thought they had grown them somewhere, but in reality they were imported from Denmark."

Another member of the party penetrated to the Great Humboldt glacier, the world's greatest glacier. He was reluctant as to his scientific discoveries and observations, but intimated that previous indications that glaciers are advancing and not retreating were confirmed by the present trip. Glaciers which in the memory of Eskimos now living had not reached the sea were now at the seashore and were "calving"—breaking off into icebergs regularly. This phenomenon, he said, should mean an increased number of icebergs in the Arctic current off the coast of Newfoundland.

Dr. Mac Millan said that he had heard by radio of the discovery of "white Indians" in Panama. "They were Albinos," he declared. "White Eskimos? I've seen lots of them. They only mean that some other white men have been ahead of you. They're half breeds."

The French consider that this clause enables the operation of the British fleet in time of League of Nations' need, to preserve peace, and say that they are entirely satisfied with the British private assurance that the protocol requirements will be loyally carried out. It is even said in French quarters that Great Britain will go to the extent of contributing aerial and expeditionary forces should the situation be so menacing that such assistance seems desirable.

No Minister English Project.
With the British giving assurance to the French, it is understood that the French on their part have been spending some time in convincing certain of the continental leaders that today's draft protocol does not represent a sinister project whereby England might unduly extend her influence in continental Europe and become not only master of the high seas, but of the continental mainland.

Although nothing has been definitely decided, indications tonight were that the assembly would be asked to adopt a resolution, to which the delegates' solemn intention to submit the protocol to their home government for signature. The leaders behind the project presented today the belief that if this course is followed many states might sign the protocol before their representatives leave Geneva.

The essentials of Dr. Benet's project ruling out war, which were discussed tirelessly throughout the entire day, include the submission of all judicial disputes to the world court of justice, the compulsory arbitration of which would be recognized by all the signatories. All other disputes, namely, those political in character, would go to the council of the League of Nations, which for the time being would act as a court of arbitration and reach its decisions by a majority, not a unanimous vote.

World Blockade Agreement's Force.
When a conflict is brought either before a court or council, the protocol provides for the dispatch of international supervisory commissions to see that none of the parties to the dispute shall be mobilized, and these commissions shall reach their decision within the maximum time limit of eight days. Having decided that a state which refuses arbitration shall be branded as an aggressor, and outlawed, the protocol provides for the immediate putting into force of the sanctions.

All the signatories agree individually and collectively to assist the attacked state and give mutual support through furnishing raw materials, food stuffs, credits, and transports, and insure the safety of communications both by land and sea for the threatened state.

An important article authorizes the council to set up permanent commissions to draw up plans for blockading an aggressor and for economic and financial cooperation.

After authorizing regional agreement, the protocol makes arrangements for the international conference on the reduction of armaments which shall be convened in the shortest possible time. If, within a time limit, to be determined by the signatories, this disarmament conference is not held, or its conclusions have not been carried out, then all the signatories regain complete freedom of action.

Representatives of 12 Governments Give Preliminary Approval to Benet's Plan to Out- law All Wars

SAFETY ASSURED

Signers Would Agree to Aid Nation Not at Fault and to Blockade Parts of Aggressor— French Satisfied

(By the Associated Press.)
Geneva, Sept. 16. — The representation of 12 governments, sitting privately in sub-committee, gave preliminary approval today to the several articles concerning sanctions in the draft protocol, which Dr. Edouard Benet of Czechoslovakia submitted after long and difficult negotiations, a pact which advanced the cause of arbitration, produces a sense of security among nations and prepares the way for disarmament.

Italy expressed some apprehensions concerning regional alliances, which are permitted by the draft pact, although her delegates did not press this matter as the discussion continued. Former Premier Branting of Sweden, voicing the opinion of the neutral states, declared that Dr. Benet had produced a big historical document, which would be given that close study which it warranted.

Among the articles dealing with sanctions, which were thoroughly discussed today, was Article 7 of the protocol, providing for general contributions from all states, in order that the country which the arbitral tribunals have declared an aggressor may be outlawed. This article obligates the signatories to assist the attacked state and insure the safety of land and sea communication.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

WHEN IN THIS POSITION

When the ball lies in the short grass of the fairway, but only a foot or two off the green, is it safe to use a putter under ordinary circumstances? Or should some other club be used?

Answered by

CLARENCE BACKNEY.

Winner of the Canadian open championship in 1923-24. Also winner of the Philadelphia open championship in 1923-24 and the professional championship in 1924-25. Runner-up in many sectional tournaments, including the North and South championship four times in seven years.

The only club to use in this position is an approach club. This is by far the safer club and should be used in the same manner as a putter. A great many players make the mistake, on other clubs which have too much loft. A shot of this sort needs overspin to make it "hug the green," and a loft club imparts backspin and has the opposite effect. A backspin shot will bite into the green, slow up suddenly, and jump about in an uncertain manner, making the distance to the cup hard to gauge. An overspin shot which rolls ahead in a straight line is a much safer stroke, and an approach club in the proper club to produce this effect.

AMERICANS WIN CUP.

Win Second Polo Contest From Great Britain's Team.

(By the Associated Press.)
Westbury, Sept. 16. — America's intrepid riders, sweeping forward in another victorious march, galloped to their second successive victory today over Great Britain's horsemen and clinched possession of the international challenge cup, emblem of polo supremacy between these rival nations.

Another picturesque crowd of 20,000, with the Prince of Wales as the center of attraction, saw the flying Yankees dash to victory by a margin of 14 to 5, but though it was decisive the score does not reveal the gallant stubbornness with which the British, led by the redoubtable Louis Lacey, made their last fight for the cup.

Proceeded from New York.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 16. — Pittsburgh defeated Rochester of the International League, 2 to 0, in an exhibition game here this afternoon. Johnson turned in his third successive shutout. He held the visitors to four hits. Suppon's playing featured.

A FEW SMILES

Through the Subway.

An Iowa girl, en route to visit friends in New York, entered the city by the Hudson tunnel, then took the subway to her address. "What do you think of the city?" they asked on her arrival. "I couldn't say," she replied. "I've had only a worm's-eye view."—Legion Weekly.

A Public Servant.

"An official should remember that he is a servant of the public." "Of course," answered Senator Sorghum. "But that fact doesn't imply an obligation to preserve a manner of perpetual deference. Haven't you ever noticed how haughty a head waiter can be?"—Washington Star.

Process of Elimination.

"It's kind of handy to be baldheaded. On my trips I don't have to carry either hairbrush or comb." "Have your teeth out, my boy. Then you won't need a toothbrush, either."—Boston Transcript.

The Season Opens.

"Were you at school today?" asked the kind old lady of a little boy last night. "Oh, yes," he replied. "And what did you do?" "I brought back some home work for papa and mamma." — Brooklyn Standard-Union.

Pennant Prospects

By Feg Murray

Drawing a cartoon of the Giants and Yankees fighting it out for the world series has got to be a habit with sports cartoonists the last few years. This year, like nothing for years, however, and be prepared to see a world series between Pittsburgh and Washington, or even Detroit and Brooklyn. It would be a fine thing for baseball if two non-New York teams did battle for the world's championship, and it certainly would cause a stir in the east of the country in general. In Walter Johnson's last game to pitch in a world series, the Giants pitched 100,000.

And as Walter Johnson, and if he should pitch first instead of the Yankees, and he'll have to pitch in Gotham—will be able to see the New York Giants in one more position.

Brooklyn is one of the owners who has a chance, and the most recent of any but a New York team to win. Brooklyn won the pennant in 1920 and 1916, when Pittsburgh won since 1909, when Babe Adams' superb pitching beat Detroit in three games.

Are using these rare powders By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I did not intend to supply powders to women. My only idea was to furnish them my greatest beauty helps. But thousands of women have urged me, by letter and in person, to tell them the powers I use.

Like all my friends on the stage and in the movies, I use very costly powders. I have them made to my own formula. They cost me $5 per box. Our customers depend on our looks and nothing is too costly.

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices. I order them in quantities, under my name. I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best.

Now all drugists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders. There are two kinds. For myself I prefer a clinging powder, a cold cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It is enduring. That Youth Cream Powder costs $1. But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder. If you want that kind, it costs but 50 cents. Both kinds come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

So far as I know, these powders are the finest in existence. You may be sure that if anyone produced a better powder I would get it quickly. Anyone who uses common powders will gain a new conception of what powders should be.

Let me send you a sample. Just mail this coupon and tell me the kind you want.

PROMINENT SIDNEY MAN DIES.

Winfield Sherwood Found Dead in Kitchen of His Home.

Unadilla, Sept. 16.—Word was received in Unadilla early this morning that Winfield Sherwood, a prominent business man of Sidney, had been found dead alone in his home.

Mr. Sherwood's business interests call him to New York City, a large part of the time. He returned to his home Saturday evening. An acquaintance saw him Sunday as he was returning from church between 12 and 1 o'clock. There were no lights in the house that evening or since. Consequently, William Thorpe, his late wife's uncle, who lives in the next house, and who always has a key to the Sherwood home, entered to investigate. He found the lifeless body in the kitchen, lying down in a perfectly natural position.

Dr. L. M. Day was called and F. H. Meeker, a life-long friend and L. M. Meeker of Unadilla were notified and went to the home. Dr. Gladstone of Walton, coroner of Delaware county, was sent for and made a careful examination, pronouncing the cause of death to be angina pectoris. Money on his person and valuables were untouched, no foul play, or other cause but that of natural and sudden death was found. He evidently had gone to the kitchen for some purpose, when he was suddenly stricken. For years he has spoken of a sharp pain at times in his side, considered heart trouble.

Mr. Sherwood was born at Unadilla Center about 55 years ago, the son of William and Lucy Taylor Sherwood. His wife, who was Miss Helen Childs of Fly Creek passed away July 3, this year.

A son, Robert Sherwood of Winchester, Mass., and a sister, Miss Mildred Sherwood of Ashwith, North Carolina, are the nearest surviving relatives. Until the arrival of the son early Wednesday morning, no other family particulars can be given, and the funeral will not be arranged for until then.

Mr. Sherwood has for years been a resident of Sidney and prominent worker for its progress and welfare. He has been engaged in real estate matters in Sidney and Gilbertsville, and all business enterprises have received his enthusiastic support. At the time of his death he was employed by Sidney business men to secure new industries for the place, a fact which shows their confidence in him and his abilities.

PERTINENT PRESS NOTES

Deaths to Motor Cars

Fourteen deaths have resulted from automobile accidents in Oneonta during the first eight months of the present year.

The accidents to motor cars to date would indicate that despite the extraordinary precautions which have been taken for the entire year, fatal, serious and slight, will just about equal those of 1933. The same proportion is being maintained.

There have been, according to the figures, 165 automobile collisions in Oneonta during the year. The last is altogether too large. It includes far too many mishaps due to careless running or disregard of the rules of the road. —Scranton Republican.

Of High Importance

Another point raised by Justice Caverly in the Lippold-Lock case is of high importance. In reaching his decision, "the court would have considered the counsel and support of others," and he refers to the practice in some states of providing for a bench of three judges to determine the penalty in capital cases. It is a wise provision. The question of life and death is too great to leave to one man. Whether it is not too great to leave to any group of men is a question which is bound to persist. —Springfield Republican.

Chains of the World War

It can not be said that the cost of what was gained was too dear, if it could have been won in no other way. The problem that must be solved is one of finding a less costly and terrible method. Those few who hold that the war was fought in vain are sadly mistaken. It saved the world from a danger, and gave the leadership—may they use it wisely, and for the good of all—to the free nations, nations that have been schooled in democracy. —Indianapolis News.

Highway Construction

The following bulletin shows the highway construction accomplished during the week ending Sept. 12: Number of contracts under way, 202; pavements being laid, 83; men employed by contractors, 7,854; square yards of pavement completed during week, 145,941; completed during season, 3,655,365; maintenance force employed by state, 4,700. The above yardage represents 14.42 miles of completed pavement for the week and a total of 357.81 miles for the season. The almost continuous rains throughout the state during the past week cut the pavement progress to hardly more than 68 per cent of normal.

How They Filled to Vote

According to figures compiled by the New York Civic League, 40 per cent of the registered voters in Oneonta county, during 11,267 persons, failed to vote in 1932, the last gubernatorial election year. In Delaware county, 43 per cent, or 11,267 failed to vote, and in Chenango 8,534 failed in their duty at the general election, this being 41 per cent of enrolled voters. For the purpose of getting out the entire vote, the League proposes to hold meetings in Norwich and Watertown on September 23, and in Cooperstown on September 25. Prominent speakers will address all three meetings.

That Body of Yours

LINIMENTS.

You may read in the street car or elsewhere, the advertisements regarding certain liniments.

The appeal in the picture, of pain being alleviated by rubbing on the liniment, attracts your interest.

Sometimes it is an old chap with muscular rheumatism, and at another time it is a youth or maiden with sore muscles, after some long walk or athletic effort.

Perhaps you wonder if there is anything in this business of rubbing liniment on sore muscles. Whether the drugs in the various preparations can penetrate the skin enough to relieve the pain.

Now what about it?

Well, I have seen an athlete come to his training quarters with stiff, painful muscles, and after a short rub down by the trainer with liniment, he would be able to get out on the track or field, and have a "work out" without pain.

I have seen an old lady with pain in the shoulder muscles unable to raise her arm, and that same arm, overhead after a few minutes rubbing of liniment.

When you are out of that ankle and of the old lady's knee and the next day.

Yes! It is more likely that there will be some relief, but it will be somewhat lessened.

The next step is further application of the liniment is applied. The day following the first application, the pain is gone, and the knee is as good as new.

Did the liniment help to get rid of the pain?

What really happens is this. The application of the liniment causes something within it to develop pain, enables the afflicted one to use the part, without feeling the pain as keenly.

This is really the reason for the success of the liniment: then, the ability to use the sore part.

The using of the liniment stimulates the circulation in the sore part, and the blood carries away from the part the waste material causing the stiffness and soreness.

The encouragement of the use of the part, owing to the pain being relieved by the liniment, is the big reason for its clearing up the sore part.

The rubbing of the part, the action of the liniment, also stimulates the circulation in the part, and it carries away from the part the waste material causing the stiffness and soreness.

COMPANY MAY "CUT MELON"

Wall Street News Prints Cheerful Intimation to Business Machines Stockholders.

"While a director of the International Business Machines corporation states that the management of the company has not as yet formally discussed the possibility of splitting up the company's stock on a two for one basis and the inauguration of $5 a share annual dividends on each new share it was intimated that the plan may be considered and it is believed that such will be the action of the company in its next dividend increase," says the Wall Street News.

"At first glance it seems premature to talk of an increased disbursement for this company in view of the fact that the company's regular rate was raised from $6 a share annually to $8 a share in February of this year, but the liberal dividend policy combined with the stability of the increasing net earnings are pointed to in justification of the consideration of the above plan. It is the recognized policy of the management to divide about half of the company's net income with the stockholders and retain the remainder for the development of the company's productive program. New uses and adaptations of the company's line of office equipment are being constantly sought to broaden the field of activity and further assure the stability of the company's satisfactory position in industry.

Earnings of the company in the first half of this year were equivalent to $1.57 a share on the 150,684 shares of no par capital stock outstanding as compared with $6.70 a share in the corresponding period of 1923. In other words the company's dividends at the regular $5 a share rate for the entire year were nearly returned in the first six months, leaving the balance of the second half almost entirely available for working capital."

RICHNESS OF LIFE

Be ye also enlarged.—11 Cor. 6:12

One reason why we live such circumscribed lives is because we only give our attention to those things which directly concern our business or our comfort.

We forget that a whole universe is at our hand to interpret to us the meaning of life.

That is why every one who can possibly do so ought to have some sort of hobby—some interest to lead him outside of himself where he can lose the strain of his particular life in the wonder of the universal aspect of life.

It may be some form of sport, of sketching—no matter how bad the sketches—or an animal to care for and watch, or (like Oliver Wendell Holmes) walking around, measuring and marvelling at New England elm trees.

Anything elemental will do.

To center your attention on your own life in its narrow aspects is always discouraging.

By and by you will find yourself a prisoner of boredom.

Put to rest on your life the life and interpretation of the universe is to find it both heavy and value.

For one of the great lessons which a man who would experience the fullest of life must learn is how to keep his eye on the particular at just before him and his mind on the universe.

D. & L. Auto Supply Company inaugurates New Cab Service With Rummy Day.

A new line of taxicab service was placed in operation in Oneonta yesterday when two yellow cabs were placed subject to call by the D. & L. Auto Supply company. Concurrent with placing the cars in operation, the owners announced that the company had leased parking space at the Delaware and Hudson station for the exclusive use of parking the taxicabs. Workmen yesterday painted a broad white boundary line around the new space allotted to the yellow cabs.

The cabs are part of a standardized service operating successfully throughout the country and the local concern is determined to maintain the high standard which has already been established in the larger and in many of the smaller cities.

Among the promises made by the Oneonta Yellow Cab management are that the most careful and courteous drivers will be employed, that each cab will be cleaned, polished and disinfected every day, that 24 hour service will be of the best, and that fair rates will be maintained.

Some Stellar Special Attractions Feature Central New York Fair

Crowd Quite Agreed That They Surpass Those of Any Exhibition in History of Oneonta Fair—Bellinardine Family Wins First Race—Five Hours Required to Decide the 21st Trot—Judges Making Awards—Good Attendance for First Exhibition Day

"Positively the best special attractions seen on the Oneonta fair grounds" was the way one of the good-sized throngs present at the close of the afternoon's program and he voiced the sentiments of the great majority of the crowd, as it certainly does that of the writer who has been practically all of the acts presented since that particular feature became one of the drawing cards for all agricultural fairs. None of them were allers and while some attendants were disappointed in not seeing the State Troopers from Troop C of Sidney give an exhibition of their skill as riders, there was no complaint either of the Troopers or the management, as no one would wish the men to ride horses which had just come in from Syracuse and all were glad that the local Troop, in which all in this section take commendable pride, won the honors last week at Syracuse.

There were many other commendable features that caused comment. The management is to be complimented upon the presence of a first class starter in the racing events. This official can enhance or mar the enjoyment of spectators and W. H. Bush of Newburgh proved very capable and was successful in keeping the races free from some objectionable features often experienced. He is a fortunate selection and the announcement that he is to return another year would be welcomed. The grounds are well covered with tents but there is a welcome absence of the loud talking hecklers plying their sale of dolls and other articles by the throw of the balls or things of that sort.

The poultry building is overflowing with fine birds as is also the big tent called into use to supplement the building and some are housed in private shipments but in carloads. Mr. Tripp of Bendee came in with three cars, Mr. Skinner of Cape Vincent with two, while W. A. Shafer of this city has about another carload. Charles Hayner of Bedford is another exhibitor. Judging is progressing rapidly with W. A. Francis of the city doing the job and as always to the satisfaction of all.

The departments of cattle, sheep and swine attracted more than usual amount of attention and the work of judging was late yesterday approaching completion.

One of the sights that all should see is the banana tree to be found in the center of Floral hall. This is a product of Otogo county and was grown on the Emmons farm by Onni Kelo, head gardener, from seed planted two years and four months ago. It is now 15 feet high and has a spread of 11 feet. It has been out in the open this summer and will be housed again this fall.

The work of judging at the Floral hall is proceeding with Mrs. Toombs of Schenectady doing the work. Here are the exhibitors: Mrs. J. H. Skinner, Mrs. John Grimes, Mrs. H. W. Stanton, Mrs. Stuart DeRonde, Mrs. F. A. Herrieff, Mrs. M. L. Mull and Mrs. Horace Kerr, have arranged a great assortment of articles for display and they attract much attention from the ladies. Two large exhibits of vegetables are made this year, one by Walter E. Marland of Otogo and the other by Harold Shuttle of Westville, Mr. Skiff not being an exhibitor this year.

The Attractions.

Unquestionably the feature arousing the most comment is the special attractions and conspicuous among them is the Riding Act with the Comedy Riding school as the closing act. The members of the company, three in number, are all members of the Costello family and they ably maintain their reputation of the family. Mother and son do some fine work with three fine gray horses while the heartiest laugh of the day was created was the efforts of the novices to ride bareback. All riders have gone through the same experience, according to Mr. Costello.

Second in popularity doubtless were the Vardell Bros., who are acrobats of skill and daring. They do some stunts that have never been seen here before: while the leap from the pole to the slide and thence a somersault and ending with catching by the feet of another swinging on a trapeze is a thriller indeed. This is the first appearance of these stellar acrobats in this country since an extended trip around the world appearing in all the principal countries in which they gave folks a display of American acrobatic stunts.

Dekoch & Company also have a good act in which "Rags," a well trained canine, does his stunts cleverly while the Colonial Belles have a good musical number in which some clever work with an accordion is done. The members of the company are gaily costumed and the act is featured with pep and some jazz.

Today the riders of Troop C will give one of their exhibitions of daring riding and will repeat the stunts which won for them the first prize at the State fair.

Last but by no means least, the ball-

Little Things Make Big Things.

In the little red school house, years ago, the scholars used to sing:

"Little drops of water,
Little grains of sand,
Make the mighty ocean,
And the mountains land."

Yes, and if people could only realize how small amounts placed with one monthly are fast and safely rolling up to over five million dollars, at six per cent compounded interest, the news papers wouldn't have a chance to tell so much about crime and corruption. been ascended with a parachute drop around an over keen interest and in small days. It will be repeated each day of the fair.

Oneonta's Automobile Show.

Since the annual automobile show which used to be held in Oneonta each winter has been discontinued, still more attention has been given to the exhibition of motor cars at the Oneonta fair, and this year the display is especially complete.

The Oneonta Sales company has a complete display of Ford Motor cars, including the regular Tudor and Fordor sedans, coupe, touring, car, roadster, commercial car, and truck and in specially equipped Fordor sedan, touring car, and suburban.

While there are few recent changes even in body lines, and with the dependable Ford power plant still the cars are coming in for a full share of attention and admiration.

The Chevrolet display of F. N. VanWick is also a complete one, including the deluxe models which carry much extra equipment in addition to Duo body finishes in very pleasing shades. The display also includes the standard touring car, coupe, and truck chassis.

In the tent of C. H. Bennett of Otogo are being shown the new Paige four-door Brougham and Jewett touring and closed models which are familiar to those at all interested in motor cars.

A complete Dodge line, with a coupe and sedan equipped with balloon tires and other extras, are being shown by the Traver-Mackay company, local dealers. In addition to the passenger models, a truck is also being shown.

The D. & L. Auto Supply company is shown the Hupmobile, Overland and Willys-Knight lines of passenger cars and the White truck. With additions to be made today the exhibition will include a Hupmobile club sedan and touring, a Willys-Knight sedan, and an Overland coupe and touring model.

Packard, Hudson and Essex are the lines in the tent of the Wilber Motor Sales company, with the Packard Six sedan, the Hudson coach and seven passenger sedan, and the Essex coach. Special emphasis is placed on the coach models which are nearly the open car price.

Another of the large exhibits is that of Arthur M. Butts including the Oldsmobile, Jordan and Chandler. The new model Oldsmobiles are being shown for the first time in Oneonta and have attracted much attention. The Jordan models are also proving attractive.

The 1932 Olds which is being exhibited at the Butts tent is another of the fair fixtures which never fails to gain interest.

The Franklin Motor Sales tent showing includes the new series 18-C type in the sedan and touring types, the only ones which could be secured by Arden W. Jones of Westville. The new type claims an increase in power of 40 per cent and is being visited by a large number of persons.

The Standard Oil Company of New York is showing in its tent a complete line of Socony products.

Studebaker products are being exhibited by the Delhi Motor Sales company and they have the standard and special six chassis in the new duplex shastion, a new all weather body. Balloon tires and hydraulic four wheel brakes are being offered at a slight optional increase in price.

H. C. Wright of this city is showing the new Oakland six in open and closed models with balloon tires and four wheel brakes. Also being shown in that tent are Gabelier snubbers by Crippen & Every in a novel demonstration, Gould batteries, and the Stromberg carburetor.

Gardner is represented in coupe and sedan at the tent of Robert A. Oliver, while the Star is being shown by Russell-Archibald company of Delhi.

Rickenbacker is to be shown by Clifford Eldred, local agent, and at least two models of that popular make will be on exhibition today.

C. C. Miller & Co. Booth.

Demonstrations are being given of the Savage washer and dryer, one of the specialties of the company, while today it is hoped that the first of Royal vacuum cleaners, for which the company recently took the agency, will have arrived and be on display.

Good Races Seen.

The races of yesterday were more interesting than the score would indicate. In the fast race Bellinardine, the clever pacer of S. G. Camp, was not hard pressed and Driver Billy Pluckie had each heat in hand all the time. For second place there was a race between Harvest Moon and Woodland Graton, with the former winning but constantly pressed for second place.

The 2:18 trot proved the most interesting and exciting of the day and required five heats before Special

BORE VOTING MACHINES

At the meeting of the Common Council held last evening it was unanimously decided that the city should provide six more voting machines for the convenience of the voters in the fall election, and R. O. Marshall, the clerk, was directed to confer with the city attorney regarding the law on the proposition and then to arrange for the renting of the machines.

It will be remembered that the polls were crowded last year, there being a line at many of the districts throughout the rush hours of the day and the move is one which will unquestionably meet with universal approval and appreciation.

Among the other matters considered was that of a building permit for John Kelly, who wishes to enlarge his present building at 13 Susquehanna street so as to provide room for a grocery store. The permit was granted conditional to the revision of the plans to provide at least two exits from the second floor, a fire precaution.

In connection with the routine audit of bills, that of the light company was brought up for consideration, and the city attorney said the finance committee will investigate the proposition of securing an allowance for a number of street lights in the lower section of the city, which were reported to have been out for several days.

OF INTEREST TO CHURCHES.

Prominent Speakers for State W. C. T. U. Can Be Had October 8.

The state W. C. T. U. convention will be held in Oneonta October 2-7. There will be many noted speakers in attendance. It has been the custom of the state organization to place their speakers in various churches in the convention city and surrounding villages.

Any church organization desiring a speaker for Sunday, October 6, morning or evening, should write the chairman of committee, Mrs. Robert Hall, 32 Center street, Oneonta.

LUNCHEON AT BROOKSIDE.

Boroughs Club of Oneonta to Be Guests of Mrs. M. L. Ford.

Mrs. Merton L. Ford cordially invites all members of the Boroughs club to a picnic luncheon at Brookside, Laurens, Saturday, September 20, at 12:30 p. m. It is hoped that all members may be able to attend. Trolley leaves Oneonta station at 12 m. The regular program meetings of the club will begin Saturday, October 4. A plan for the year's work will be printed in The Star next week.

Real Estate Transfer.

Earl Southern has sold his house and lot in Morris to Mrs. Brown, possession given October 1. Harold Mable of 121 East street has sold his house to Mrs. Barrett of Richfield. The above sales were made by the Square Deal Farm Agency, Oneonta.

Seriously Ill.

The many friends of Charles Beney, long a merchant at West Laurens, will learn with regret that he is critically ill and it is feared that he cannot long survive.

We now have claims at Palmer's grocery. adv 21

We feel that way about it or we wouldn't feature these clothes. But that isn't nearly as important to you as what young men think. They say we're right. Rare patterns, rich woollens, tailoring that's worth a lot more than we're asking.

PENDLETON-SPRAGUE

C. Nathan Pendleton, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Pendleton, and Miss Vivian Sprague of Rome, were united in marriage yesterday.

C. Nathan Pendleton, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Pendleton of this city, and Miss Vivian Sprague, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Sprague of 419 North George street, Rome, were quickly united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 2 Fair street, this city.

Mr. Pendleton is a teller with the Citizens' National Bank & Trust company and has a host of friends in this city who will join in congratulations and best wishes. His bride has for the past two years been in attendance at the Oneonta State Normal school and also has a large number of friends here who will join with those of Mr. Pendleton in felicitations.

The ceremony was performed before the assembly in the living room in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Charles S. Pendleton, D. D., father of the groom. The room was prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white. The dais was decorated with palms. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of tan georgette, trimmed with duchess lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and baby breath.

The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Ruth E. Page of Rome, also a student at the Oneonta Normal school, who as well furnished soft music during the ceremony.

A dainty wedding luncheon was served to those in attendance at the ceremony at the home. The bride was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, but has resided in Rome for the past twelve years. She received her education at Rome Free Academy, graduating, however, from the Edmonson High school, and for the past two years she has attended Oneonta Normal school. She has always been a favorite among the younger people of this city, and her many friends showed their appreciation of her by the splendid wedding gifts that she received.

The groom was born and has always lived in this city, his father, Rev. Dr. Pendleton, having been pastor of the Main Street Baptist church for many years. He is a graduate of Hamilton college, class of 1921, and is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity. He holds a responsible position with the Citizens' National Bank & Trust company of Oneonta.

JUNIOR PROJECT WINNERS

Wind and rain did not hinder the program of the Junior Project department at the Otsego County fair. On Monday all exhibits were in place and by Tuesday practically all of the judging took place. Then came the widely advertised boys' and girls' day program on Wednesday.

During the morning 4-H clover caps were distributed to the boy club members and arm bands were given to the girls, so that at 1 o'clock all was in readiness for the parade. Headed by the Little Falls band, the parade was led around the track. After the band came two prize winning ponies ridden by Jesse Tower of Oneonta, and Carl Green of Cooperstown, both poultry club members. Then came a boy bearing the American flag, followed by poultry club members, each carrying one of their flock, garden club members carrying vegetables, potato club workers with potatoes, etc., including the clothing, cooking and canning clubs. These were followed by the club members leading their entries, some of which were slightly muddy. To complete the impressive display, which would have been long under good weather conditions, were three beautiful floats entered by the Brookwood school, Whig Corners school and Whig Corners Foods club. The cooking club float was placed first by the judges. This float represented the 4-H's of club work—head, hands, heart and heart. The Whig Corners school float was second and Brookwood, third.

In the afternoon some interesting demonstrations were given by the club members. One on the care of clothing, given by Rena Holmes and Frances Menoughan of the Jolly Juniors of East Springfield, was given first place and a demonstration on canning, given by a simple breakfast, by Geraldine and Isabel Benjamin of the Whig Corners Foods club, was placed second. In the agricultural demonstration contest, a potato selection and treatment demonstration, given by Edward Madsen and Arthur Green of Westville, was placed first, and the poultry-culling demonstration, by Paul Kraham of Whig Corners and Lynn Wilson of Westville, received second place.

The winners of the special prizes were:

Best potato exhibit—A trip to the Cornell Field Days, won by Harold Pierce, Richfield Springs, R. D., awarded by the Cooperstown National Bank.

Best pen of Cockerel and four pullets—Silver cup, won by Charlotte Pard, Mt. Vernon, awarded by the Toga Mill & Elevator company.

Best Cockerel—Medal, won by Conrad Nevrason, Cooperstown, awarded by the Toga Mill & Elevator company.

FAITHFUL MINISTER OF GOD

Rev. Seward A. Terry Dies Monday Evening After Long Illness—Funeral This Afternoon.

Rev. Seward A. Terry, brief notice of whose demise appeared in The Star of yesterday, died at about 6 o'clock Monday evening at his home, 18 Central avenue, in this city. He had been ill since July 1, being confined to the house and for most of the time to his bed since that time. His death, which was not unexpected, was from a complication of diseases, and his passing was exceptionally peaceful.

The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at his late home. Rev. Dr. Goodall, superintendent of the Oneonta district, will officiate, assisted by other pastors of the Wyoming conference. Burial will be in the family plot at Keeseville.

Mr. Terry, who was born March 15, 1855, at Pavilion, Genesee county, and was a son of George and Arminia (Odell) Terry, was of Methodist ancestry, his father being for more than forty years a pastor in the Genesee conference. He was educated at the Carey Collegiate seminary at Oakfield, the Brookport Normal school and the Genesee Wesleyan seminary at Lima. For several years he followed the occupation of commercial traveler, but later entered and graduated from the Drew Theological seminary, and at the Wyoming conference held in Oneonta in the spring of 1897, he was ordained to the ministry by Bishop Warren. From that time until his death he was active in the work of the church, holding positions successfully at Barton (near Waverly), Lockwood, Davenport Center, Sidney Center, Berkshire, Ventail, Fly Creek and Mt. Vernon. After finishing his pastorate at the latter place he removed to Oneonta and at intervals supplied many pulpits in this section, among them those at Davenport, East Worcester and Hartwick.

The deceased was a man of fine attainments, of a gentle, generous spirit, and in the charges which he had served, no less than in the home and in the immediate community where for the past nine years he had resided, he was greatly beloved. He was always zealous in the work of the Master, and had held numerous meetings, bringing many souls into the fold. He was a kind and sympathetic friend to all, and his death will be a loss to the church and to the community.

Mr. Terry is survived by his wife, Rebecca W. Weston of Keeseville, to whom he was married June 21, 1897, three brothers, Everett Terry of East Oneonta, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary (Smith) of Cooperport, Pa., and several nieces and nephews. An only son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry died in the age of two years.

Yellow Cab

Strives to live up to ideals

Not so long ago the commercial world countenanced many questionable practices on the ground that "business is business."

In those days taxicab drivers, like many others, considered the public their natural prey. A business transaction was a duel of wits. Somebody always came out second best.

Now a happier era has dawned. "Business honor" is as carefully cherished as was personal honor twenty years ago.

We take pardonable pride in recalling the fact that the modern taxicab industry—as represented by the YELLOW CAB CO. of this city—was one of the earliest evangels of decency in business.

In affording the people of this city convenient, low cost taxicab transportation we are governed by one paramount ideal—to truly serve.

Every man and woman in our organization is constantly alert to devise ways and means to give better value for less money.

But we need your help and co-operation. Give us the volume and the very first dividend we declare will be a rate reduction to the public.

Bachelors! Here's Your Chance!

If you are a young fellow with no matrimonial prospects, here is your opportunity—or rather opportunities—to get yourself a wife. These two young maidens, June Zeiser, 21 (left), and her sister, Cecelia, 25, are willing to wed. But there's one little catch to it. The man—or men—who take advantage of their bargain must agree to pay off forthwith a $200 mortgage on their mother's 60-acre farm near Milwaukee. That's why they are making the offer. And the acceptance—or acceptance—must come quickly, as a sheriff's sale is looming.

Biggest

The biggest candidate in West Virginia this year is Squire Ope G. Karnes, who tips the scales at 400 pounds. Squire Karnes has served the people of Mercer county for eight years and his reputation has grown to be consistent with his size. Now he is a candidate for re-election.

APPEAL OF TRAIN DESERTERS FOR FREEDOM TO BE OPPOSED

Washington, Sept. 16.—The government has filed a brief with the supreme court opposing the appeal sought by R. H. Clements and other former employees of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, convicted of obstructing the passage of the mails and interfering with interstate commerce during the shop craft strike in 1922.

Clements and others were indicted and convicted on the charge of having abandoned trains in the deserts of Southern California and Arizona with the result that mails were obstructed and interstate commerce impeded. The government contended that the trains were abandoned to force the railroad to agree to a settlement of the shopmen's strike favorable to the labor organization. Clements and his associates insisted they struck against intolerable working conditions.

THE CANDIDATES SELECTED

Democratic and Republican Nominees in County and District as Chosen at Tuesday Primaries.

With the primary election, held yesterday afternoon and evening and at which the number of ballots cast, at least on the Republican side, was by no means commensurate with the importance of the contest, the nominees for both parties were definitely selected, and doubtless everybody will now get out and work for the nominee. On the Democratic side there was little interest, as there was no opposition, but the three conflicts among Republicans needed a count of votes to determine. This result is elsewhere given, and the local candidates for whom adherents of the two parties will vote in November are:

Democratic.

Congress—Charles R. Seymour.
State Senator—No nomination.
Assembly—J. Everett Williams.
County Judge—William T. Welton.
Superintendent of Poor—Louis E. Egan.

Republican.

Congress—George E. Schooner.
State Senator—Willie Wendell.
Assembly—Frank M. Smith.
County Judge—Adrian A. Pierson.
Superintendent of Poor—Melvin J. Esmay.

Congress—George A. Sloan and Norman W. Getman.

Upon the ballot to be voted in November, the names of the candidates given above will be preceded by boxes containing the names of state candidates.

The Glory of Success.

Bravery and courage are not peculiar to any one nationality. As brave and courageous men as our ancestors have undertaken as arduous tasks, that which the Americans have now so nearly completed. The glory of success was reserved for our forefathers. But to this it must be conceded that many people contributed. Pittsburgh has been the scene of many such triumphs.

Clarke's Nomination Indicated;
Late Returns May Make Change

Best Estimates Obtainable Give Clarke 2,200 in Delaware, 1,700 in Otsego and 600 in Chenango, a Total of 4,500, With Tolley Having 4,200 to 4,400 in Broome. Tolley Shows Unexpected Strength in Chenango and at Points in Otsego and Delaware—Pierson Nominated for County Judge by 500 Majority and Esmay for County Superintendent of the Poor by Over 2,100.

At 2 o'clock this morning indications are that Congressman John D. Clarke of Delaware county has been nominated, although the margin is close. Otsego county, with a few districts missing, has given him 1,612 majority, which will probably be increased to 1,700. Latest figures from Delaware county show that 30 districts out of 64 have given Clark 1,700 majority, with some of the larger towns included, Sidney and Deposit. Each gave Tolley majorities, being in the number. It is confidently believed at 2 o'clock that this will be increased to 2,200 or more, by the returns from the other districts. Chenango county will give him 600, which may be increased slightly. This will give him 4,500 or better in the three counties.

Advised from Binghamton early this morning are that while supporters of Tolley are claiming that county by 4,500, it is not probable that the figure will go above 4,000, in which event Clarke will undoubtedly win by a few hundred. However, should Tolley continue to gain by late returns from Broome and Chenango counties, the result would be in doubt and might require the official count to determine.

Adrian A. Pierson of Cooperstown, former district attorney, has been nominated for county judge by the Republicans over Hon. George L. Bockes of this city by about 500 majority. Melvin J. Esmay has received the nomination for superintendent of the poor in Otsego by a majority of over 2,100 over Floyd J. Card of Edinboro.

Owing to faulty telephone communication, a few districts are still missing in Otsego, the towns of Litchfield and Roseboom and districts in the town of Binghamton, Eater, New Lisbon and Webster.

The vote in the county in the three contests as hastily compiled and tabulated last night, is as follows:

TOWNS	Congress	Judge	Sup. Poor

The young slayer will not say whether his act concerns Floy Kissinger, the 16-year-old girl with whom he fled to California after the murder.

Walton Fair Profitable.

Figures of receipts from the Walton fair are not all in, but indications are that the exhibition will show a fair profit, such as will justify continuance of the project under the new management. This is the more satisfactory for the reason that one day was very stormy, necessitating postponement.
